List of Negotiators

Representing the company in the conferences is Lynn W Beman, director of industrial relations for Central Soya. A former regional director of the NLRB, Mr. Beman brings 29 years experience in the labor-management field to the conference table, Mr. Fletcher said

Also conducting negotiations for McMillen are Plant Manager William Charle and Personnel Director Roy N. Lovett.

The UAW is represented by Richard Gosser, international director of the northwestern district of Ohio and Orville Beemer, international representative. Both are from Toledo. Representing Local 750 of the UAW is president William Everly of the Universal Cooler company and Joseph Stafford president of the McMillen company unit of the local

The tone of yesterday afternoon's meeting was reported by Mr Fletcher to be "very friendly" leading the company president to hope that an agreement will be reached "before the day is over."

Chief Issue

Said to be the main issue between the company and the union is a contract between the two parties signed in March of this year Mr Fletcher reiterated the company's stand in the dispute saying that "we don't intend the union shall run out on its contract" If they had agreed to submit the issue to arbitration, employes would have not lost one hours pay He further said that if the UAW agrees to respect the contract, the strike could be settled "in five minutes."

Union sources have contended that the contract which was signed to be effective until March 13, 1948, is not legal in that it was not approved by the international representatives of the UAW. This issue it is hoped will be resolved today.

Meanwhile at the McMillen plant here where picketing continues peaceably under the eyes of local police and sheriff's department officials, installation of new plant machinery necessary to receive the annual incoming fall crop of soybeans is being completed.

Overseas Planes Idle As Pilots Walk Out

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—Planes of American Overseas Airlines on both sides of the Atlantic were grounded today pending resumption of wage negotiations during which the company said, its pay offers to pilots were "the highest in the history of international commercial transport flying."

The company, owned largely by American Airlines, said the strike called yesterday by the AFL Air Line Pilots association had brought its operations to a "complete standstill." The strike by 793 pilots and co-pilots indirectly affected 323 other flight crew members.

SENATORS ASK U.S. BAR RUSS

Demand Curbs on Travel of Soviet Citizens After Moscow Bans Americans.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—A curt refusal by Russia to let 12 senators visit Moscow brought demands by two congress members today for a tougher policy on admitting Soviet citizens to this country.

The Soviet foreign ministry declined to issue visas either for members of the senate appropriations committee or John Peurifoy, assistant secretary of state, to make an inspection of the U. S. embassy. The explanation to Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith was:

"Inasmuch as the USSR. is not considered a country that could be made the subject of an investigation on the part of the visiting senators, we do not consider their trip to be suitable."

Senator Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the committee, declared the incident raises the question of how much longer the United States will permit "indiscriminate admission of Soviet subjects and sympathizers"

Senator Dworshak (R-Idaho), a member of the group, told a reporter there should at least be a careful scrutiny of any such admissions in the future

"I understand there are about 1,500 Russians in this country," Dworshak said "I wonder what they are investigating"

Bridges disclosed that the individual senators applied for Russian visas during their preparations for a European trip to start next week.

Bridges said the refusal of a visa to Peurifoy "came as a distinct shock to state department officials and members of congress" because he is in charge of the operation of U. S. embassies throughout the world.

IRANIAN PROVINCES HIT HARD BY QUAKE

By The United Press

TEHRAN, Iran, Oct. 1—The Red Lion and Sun, Iran's version of the Red Cross, rushed emergency aid today to the northeastern provinces where an earthquake had killed hundreds and thirst and bitter cold endangered the lives of thousands of survivors.

Lacking comprehensive reports, the government was not yet able to estimate the total casualties The village of Dowlatabad, which had a population of 500, lost 400 who were killed, and 58 were seriously injured

Most of the houses in the Ferdows district were completely destroyed, but casualties were reported light. Every house in Jurayan, seven miles from Ferdows, was shaken down, with eight killed and six hurt.

Eight were killed and 30 hurt in the village of Charmeh. Two were killed and one was hurt in Hessarian. Every house in Boshtagh was destroyed, but none was hurt.

The first and worst shocks were reported to have started three days ago. Survivors fled to the fields, where they shivered all night as the earth trembled.

AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS PRAISED BY TRUMAN

Chief Executive Congratulates Press as Bearer of Freedom.

By The Associated Press

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 1—The newspapers of America "can be counted upon in the future to extend the blessings of freedom throughout the world," President Truman said in a message to the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers association, sharing in the observance of national newspaper week, Oct 1-8.

"We are too much inclined to take freedom as a matter of course" the President said in his message yesterday. "We need to defend it always, and we need now to do all that we can to extend the blessings of freedom throughout the world. The newspapers have played a splendid part in this great cause, and I know they can be counted on in the future"

Gov. James H Duff and U. S Senators Edward Martin and Francis J Myers joined the President in paying tribute to the newspapers of Pennsylvania and the nation.

SOME FOODS DECLINE BUT OTHERS STAY UP

By The Associated Press

Prices of some foods, after reaching record peaks set after the First World War, have declined somewhat, but several important ones—notably meat, corn and hogs—still remained at or near their highest levels today.

By contrast, sheep prices have fallen to the season's low. A survey by The Associated Press of the trend of major food and commodity prices in the last three months showed divergent results.

Butter and egg prices have declined substantially from recent peaks of the past week or two, but cocoa was at an all-time high Poultry prices varied, wholesale quotations having dropped but retail costs remained near the top.

The Associated Press wholesale index of 35 commodities was slightly under the year's high of 195 31 set on Sept. 16. In New York the general trend in retail markets indicated retail prices would increase due to the currently rising wholesale prices.

Lew Hahn, president of the National Retail Dry Goods association, said in New York that "all the indications are that manufacturers' prices in many lines are still going up"

The New York Credit Men's association said in a poll it conducted 80 per cent of the group's 3,500 members predicted a business recession beginning in the second quarter of 1948.

High prices, buyer resistance, excessive inventories, too little capital and labor unrest were principal reasons named in the poll as making a recession practically "inevitable."

VACANT SEAT DEADLOCKS UN

Assembly Snarled Over Election of India or Ukraine to Security Council.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 — The United Nations assembly failed in its first effort today to break the deadlock in the race between the Soviet Ukraine and India for the security council seat to be vacated by Poland Dec. 31.

The first secret vote of the 57 nations today, after seven indecisive ballots yesterday, showed:

Ukraine 31; India 23 A two-thirds majority of those present and voting—36 votes—was required for election.

The eighth ballot—the first for the day—indicated no major shift in the voting line-up. The last ballot yesterday gave the Ukraine 33 and India 23.

Russia was backing the Soviet Ukraine, one of the constituent republics of the Soviet Union, and the United States and Britain were backing India in the hard-fought contest within the 57-nation assembly.

Which would win, India or the Ukraine, was anybody's guess as assembly delegates began returning to their big hall at Flushing Meadows today to resume voting They broke off in a complete deadlock last night after seven indecisive secret ballots.

The last ballot was roughly typical of those that went before It yielded 33 votes for the Russian-backed Ukraine to 23 for India. With all 57 member nations present and voting, a total of 38 votes would be required for a decision under the two-thirds majority specified by assembly rules.

The deadlock developed after the assembly had chosen on the first ballot two of the three nations needed to fill vacancies on the 11-national security council at the end of this year as a result of term expirations. The two countries elected were Canada, which will replace Australia; and Argentina, which will replace Brazil.

ROXIE GREEN'S FUNERAL HELD

Prospect Minister Gives Sermon, Three Girls Sing Hymns.

Private funeral services were conducted at 10:30 a. m. today for Roxie Ann Green, murder victim, at the Merle H Hughes mortuary on Mt. Vernon avenue.

Rev. Ralph Knoop, pastor of Prospect Methodist church officiated. Burial was made in Marion cemetery.

Friends called at the funeral home last night, but there was not an unusual number of curiosity seekers, according to reports Although the body could not be viewed, the parents placed an enlarged tinted picture of Roxie Ann where it could be seen by visitors In a copper frame, the likeness was placed on the bronze casket which was surrounded by a bank of floral pieces.

Rev. Knoop's Text

For his theme, Rev. Knoop chose these words "because of our faith in Christ and in His promises, we can consider death as our gateway to eternity". In his sermon, taking these passages from the Bible, he cautioned the people "Be not afraid and fear not", "Weep not because as long as I live, ye shall live also"

Rev. Knoop opened the service with a poem "We Come to Salute You" and then went on to tell of the book "Upon This Rock" which was written by Emil Cammerts, professor at the University of London following the death of his son in the last war. Citing a passage from the book, the father finally resolved to carry on because he had faith that the boy "awaits in his Father's house". The service was closed with the reading of a poem "In My Father's House"

The program of organ selections played by Mrs J. W. Baker included a medley of these hymns "Have Thine Own Way Lord", "My God and I", "He Lives", "Lead Kindly Light" and "Rock of Ages"

Miss June Blackford, a friend of Roxie's sang "Just for Today" and Miss Wilma June Skinner and Miss Jeannine Griffith sang two duets, "The Old Rugged Cross" and "In the Garden".

The sophomore class attended in a body Virgil Anderson, school superintendent, and other faculty members were also present.

Classmates of Roxie who served as flower girls were Misses Norma Jane Sparks, Thelma Schmidt, Betty Jo Williams, Laura Roller, Velda Hosey and Jeannette Sparks, all of Prospect Neighbors of the Green family and fellow workers of the father were pallbearers. They were George Roller, C. O. Laucher, Harold Anderson, James Osborn, Bus Gunn and Hoyt Casto all of Prospect and vicinity. Mrs J. W. Baker of Marion was organist.

Grand Jury Called

Preparations were going ahead today for calling a special session of the grand jury to consider the case of Ray A. Sheppard of Prospect, who yesterday pleaded guilty to a first degree murder charge in the slaying of Roxie.

Marion County Corn and Bean Crop Hit Hard by Heavy Frost

Marion county farmers predicted today that last night's killing frost would cause extensive damage to much of the corn crop and late soybean crop

Temperature dropped to 33 here last night as the killing frost struck throughout most of Ohio, The Associated Press reported today. Green corn in all but the southernmost counties appeared to have been finished off

Marion county farmers said the only corn to escape damage was in scattered fields of early corn which has already hardened Soybeans that had not yet matured were considerably damaged

Local temperature at noon today was 49 The weather bureau predicted fair and cooler weather tonight, with scattered frost likely Maximum temperature yesterday was 60 Minimum last night was 33 Maximum a year ago yesterday was 66 and minimum was 53, the weather bureau said.

Two Heavy Frosts

George S Mutting, U S meteorologist at Columbus, said the statewide frost today and the severe one Saturday in northern and central Ohio were the most severe fall frosts in the state in 20 years or more

"It's been a good many years since there's been as much damage to major crops like corn and soybeans" he said, although minor crops, such as squash and pumpkins, have been harder hit more recently"

This morning's frost was the first heavy one south of Columbus, but Mutting said reports from weather observers in that area indicated that the corn crop damage "probably was not as heavy as expected because the corn was further along"

Central Damage Is High

Northern and central Ohio damage appeared extensive Areas around Lake Erie suffered less

At Youngstown, County Agent J. C. Hedge said some growers reported that peaches were frozen on the trees, and that the corn crop, much of it still immature, had been killed off In downtown Youngstown the temperature was 37 but it was 30 at the city airport.

There was a light to heavy frost at points near Lake Erie, but the weather bureau at Cleveland said a breeze off the lake "offset heavy frost damage"

Below Freezing

In Cleveland the mercury fell to 34, three degrees below the previous record set in 1916 Toledo, Akron and Columbus all reported lows of 31.

The coldest point in the state was Lancaster, which reported a 23 reading at 4 a. m. East Liverpool had a 24, Dayton 38, Washington C. H. 31, and Cincinnati 35

Rise Expected Today

Temperatures were expected to rise into the 60's today, although some scattered frost appeared likely in the east portion of the state tonight. The weatherman forecasted readings in the 70's for tomorrow and Friday, with occasional rains.

Glenn S Ray, agricultural statistician at Columbus and Mudding both refused to hazard a guess as to the amount of damage caused by the frosts of Saturday and today.

City Ordinance Makes 3 Per Cent Levy on Tickets.

The three per cent admission tax, adopted by Marion city council Sept. 8 became effective today replacing the state law which expired.

Starting today, it is a violation of the ordinance to conduct any form of amusement at any permanent or temporary location, or any itinerant form of amusement within the city limits without obtaining a license from the city auditor for a $1 fee. Licenses are not transferable and must be renewed annually on Jan. 1.

COLD BRINGS DROP IN SERIES CROWD

(More about World Series on Sports Page)

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 — Bright sunlight and cold winds for the second game of the World Series caused a diminishing in the early bleacher crowd at Yankee stadium today as the Brooklyn Dodgers sought a victory to match New York's opening day win, 5-3.

Manager Bucky Harris of the Yankees called on Allie Reynolds, an effective righthander. Manager Bucky Harris of the Yankees called on Allie Reynolds, an effective righthander. Manager Burt Shotton of the Dodgers again kept his pitching selection a mystery, although little, left-handed Vic Lombardi seemed the likely choice.

Where yesterday the bleachers were filled soon after the doors opened at 9 a. m., today only 5,000 were on hand for the 13,800 seats available at $1.00.

Three thousand standing room tickets also remained unsold as city fans, apparently discouraged by yesterday's report of a record

CALLS FOR CUT IN STOCK FEED

Requests Americans To Provide 100,000,000 Bushels for European Aid.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—President Truman asked the American people today to serve "fewer slices of bread" and help save 100,000,000 bushels of grain for European aid

He also called for reduced feeding of grain to cattle and made clear most of the saving must come there.

"There will be more than enough food in the United States to go around, provided it is fairly distributed," Mr. Truman said.

White House aides said that in the President's plea to serve fewer slices of bread the emphasis was on avoiding waste.

Addressing the first meeting of his citizens' food committee at the White House, Mr. Truman exhorted

"We must get prices down and help hungry people in other countries at the same time"

Mr Truman said the saving asked of each individual is actually very small.

"One bushel of grain saved by every American in the next few months will do the job," he said.

"People Won't Fail"

Responding for the 25-member committee, Chairman Charles Luckman, reported that thousands of letters offering voluntary help have poured upon the committee since its creation last Thursday

Mr President, the people of America have never failed in the accomplishment of any war" Luckman said "They will not fail in this war on hunger On their behalf we pledge you our most earnest endeavors"

"The savings of food here at home is only one phase of the administration's program to help Europe Before the food can be sent there, congress must approve funds, either as loans or gifts, with which European nations can buy it

Mr Truman has proposed $580,000,000 as stop-gap aid and asked that key congressional committees meet as soon as possible to consider it.

The committees are the senate foreign relations, house foreign affairs and senate and house appropriations bodies

Mr. Truman made the request informally Monday and today made public a letter sent to chairmen of the committees

"Time is of critical importance in this matter," Mr. Truman wrote, "and I earnestly hope that arrangements can be made for convening your committee at an early date"

May Convene Next Month

The committees are making arrangement to convene in November in response to the President's plea that such aid must be forthcoming if France and Italy are to survive as free and independent nations. The letter underscored this point as follows:

"Political groups that hope to profit by unrest and distress are now attempting to capitalize on the grave fears of the French and Italian people that they will not have enough food and fuel to survive the coming winter."

Mr. Truman thus mentioned no political groups by name The principal argument which has been made for the aid-Europe program, however, is this:

If France and Italy go hungry this winter, Communists may seize power.

Smaller Bread Loaves Proposed To Save Grain

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 1—The way to save wheat is simple, says Donald B. Beaumont. Just reduce the size of bread loaves.

Beaumont, president of the Cleveland Lumber and Door Co., wired his suggestion to President Truman yesterday saying:

"Individuals and small families are wasting many million slices of bread which become stale or molded."

He proposed smaller loaves with approximately half the present number of slices be sold for about half the current price.

Homeless Iowan Builds House from Kindling

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

BURLINGTON, Iowa.—E. C. Etchison, 64, didn't let the housing shortage get him down—he went to work and single-handed built a brand new home 45 blocks long and 33 blocks wide.

Neighbors call it the "kindlelow," because it is a bungalow made from kindling.

Etchison constructed his dwelling from eight-inch square blocks sold by a local lumber yard as firewood. He and his wife were living at their daughter's home two years ago when he conceived the idea of building a place of his own.

Hal Boyle

But materials were scarce and high-priced. Then Etchison learned that the lumber yard had thousands of good white pine blocks. They had been purchased originally by the huge Iowa ordnance plant here during the war for use in shipping fuses and other ordnance parts. Etchison decided to build a "block house" when the lumber yard offered him all he wanted at $6 to $8 a ton.

Uses 22 Tons

He began August, 1945, working in his spare time.

Two years and 26,000 wooden blocks later—he used 22 tons altogether — he had a complete three-room house, a garage, a brooder and a henhouse for the family's flock of 100 chickens.

His "kindlelow" is a home many a young bride, weary of cramped wartime housing, would love to move into.

"I designed the place as I went along," said Etchison. "The only help I had was from my wife. There wasn't any waste. Any blocks that couldn't be used for building made good firewood."

Among novel features of the "kindlelow," which measures 22 by 30 feet, is a cement roof. Etchison, a cement finisher, rebelled against buying conventional roofing material because of its expense.

"The cement roof is standing up well," he said, "and we don't have to worry about the block walls warping out of shape either. The wood is well seasoned. The house'll last as long as we have any need of it."

Lived in Garage

The Etchisons lived in the garage while the "kindlelow" was rising, and Mrs. Etchison bordered it with 25 kinds of flowers.

"We moved in and had our first meal here last Mother's day," said Mrs. Etchison. "I call it our 'dime house' because every time we got a dime we invested in another section of wall."

The blocks were cemented and nailed together. Sanded, stained and varnished, they made a beautiful parquet floor. Etchison doesn't think his "kindlelow" will ever really be finished. He still has a pile of several hundred blocks and wants now to add a front and back porch and other units.

"I never built a house before," he smiled, "but I've done considerable patching."

He estimated that altogether he had spent between $2,000 and $3,000 on the house and its buildings.

"People wouldn't think it would run that much," he said, "but kindling costs money, too, nowadays. And you have to buy all kinds of other things."

The Etchisons live alone in the "kindlelow" with "Shrimp," their Spitz dog and "two or three cats that stay around."

"Our seven children are all married and gone," said Mrs. Etchison. She likes to show her home to visitors who come many miles to see it. And she is proud of a remark made by one elderly lady about Etchison's handiwork.

"It just goes to show what you can do if you really want to."

Cherry Tree Starts Year's Second Crop

A cherry tree seemingly with the philosophy, in a measure at least, that "September's as pleasant as May," was discovered in this area with not only clusters of white blossoms on two of its branches a few weeks ago, but started recently to develop tiny green fruit. The tree is located on the Evangelical United Brethren parsonage lot at Oceola.

The late phenomenon must not be an effort at making any compensation, because Rev. Clayton Strawser, pastor, said the tree bore a good crop of fruit in the spring. He said a high wind must have snapped off one of the fruit-bearing branches, but the other he cut off for fear it would freeze, and placed it in water. There are the beginnings of at least seven cherries, one almost as large as the seed of a fully developed cherry. The tree in size is about 10 inches through and bore its spring fruit about the middle of the cherry season.

The Moslem University at Al-Azhar in Cairo, Egypt, was established in 790.

Professors in early European universities were hired by the students.

Mr. Brooks, the superintendent, will teach the young married people's class until a teacher is chosen, it was announced. Installation of officers and teachers will be held next Sunday when rally day will be observed. Rev. Owen Lasley of the Baptist church at Delaware will speak.

Maple Grove School Reunion Elects Deitsch

William Deitsch was elected president of the annual reunion of the Maple Grove or Heyde school Sunday at the reunion event at St. Paul Lutheran parish house on the Richland pike. Reed Fetter was elected vice president, and Mrs. Luella Klingel, secretary and treasurer, and Miss Isabel Chapman, assistant.

Appointed on committees were Mrs. Hazel Klingel, Mrs. Richard Chapman and Mrs. Ralph Laucher, program and entertainment, and Mrs. Howard Schwaderer, Mrs. Earl Stuffler and Mrs. Reed Fetter, refreshments. A basket dinner was served at noon to about 65, and a program included readings and entertainment by Dr. Walter McClaskey of Prospect. Reed Fetter was in charge. A letter was read and a short talk was given by Miss Grace Cunningham of Marion, a former teacher. Group singing followed the program, and contests were in charge of Mrs. Reed Fetter. The reunion will be held next year the fourth Sunday in September at the same place.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Sixth Sense

Most people would be very much surprised to learn that they possess a sixth sense, one of which they are never aware of until they lose it. This is the sense of balance and movement in space.

Usually the man who has experienced its loss knows its importance. Without it, he seems to be living in a world of revolving objects, all of which move around him in dizzy circles in greater or less degree. Either this, or he, himself, seems to be moving like a perpetual whirligig in a stationary world. Either variety of this sensation is called vertigo, or dizziness.

The sense of balance is maintained largely by three delicate tubular structures in the inner ear known as the semicircular canals, easily upset by anything which interferes with them.

When a disturbance of the ear called Meniere's disease, there is likely to go, together with sickness to the stomach or vomiting, ringing in the ears and some disturbance of the hearing in the attack. Sometimes there may also be nystagmus, a repeated movement of the eyes to one side, with a slow return to the normal position.

The exact cause of Meniere's disease is not known. However, it is thought that it may be due to an allergy, or oversensitivity to some food which is eaten, which affects the semicircular canals. Infections in the teeth, tonsils, sciruses or elsewhere in the body may also have some bearing on the cause.

Recently, more successful methods of treating Meniere's disease have been discovered.

For example, one method of treatment is to use a diet which is as free from salt as possible. In addition, the substance known as ammonium chloride is given. Limiting of the fluids taken into the body also has been tried, and seems to bring a great improvement in a large number of cases. These three procedures decrease the fluid content of the body.

Another method of treatment consists of the giving of injections under the skin of histamine diphosphate, with the idea of lessening the alergic reaction.

Sometimes the treatment recommended combines a number of these elements.

During an attack, the patient is placed in bed in a semi-darkened room. Some form of sedative or quieting drug is administered, and the fluid intake is limited.

Following the attack, a skin test is done by injecting a small amount of histamine under the skin. If this test is positive, it is shown by the development of a red swelling at the point of injection. Treatment is then taken to desensitize or lessen the sensitivity to the histamine by giving injections of gradually increasing doses of histamine. If the reaction to the histamine is negative, the giving of nicotine acid, which is a part of the Vitamin B-complex may be helpful.

In some instances, the reduction of fluids and the limiting of salt in the diet are enough without other forms of treatment.

If none of these measures is satisfactory, the giving of a drug known as benzyl cinnamate may serve to bring relief.

If medical measures alone cannot control the condition, some form of surgery may be necessary, and in a number of such cases, surgical treatment has been found to bring excellent results in some cases.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. J. B.: What is the cause of rough skin on the upper arms and legs? What will remedy the condition?

Answer: The roughness of the skin may be due to many causes, such as vitamin "A" deficiency, skin infection, or skin disturbance produced by allergy or oversensitivity.

Careful study by a skin specialist would be needed before treatment could be advised.

tirement from the council is Poland. Before the voting began Britain and the United States had informed Russia they would support Czechoslovakia for this seat and members of both delegations said they had informally "understood" that Russia would take Czechoslovakia as an eastern European nation certain of election in preference to the risk of backing and possibly losing the candidacy of the Ukraine

But it did not turn out that way. The Russians reportedly made a last minute arrangement with some of the Latin American nations to support Argentina's election in return for their support for the Ukraine.

As a result, when the first vote was counted, Czechoslovakia, lacking Soviet and South American backing, drew only eight votes and was eliminated.

ty line, near the railway viaduct over the highway. The driver told Sheriff B. H Stansbery he lost control of the car when a gust of wind swerved him off the highway onto the roadside berm The car was badly damaged, the truck only slightly.

The brothers were taken to a Kenton hospital. Acting coroner Dr. J M. Thompson attributed Mr Olmor's death to a broken neck His body was taken to the Bumgman & Co funeral home, here, where funeral arrangements were being made today.

Turtle Causes Furor At Mansfield Hotel

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 1—An excited woman guest telephoned the Fairview hotel clerk last night that "there's something moving around in the dresser drawer"

A bellboy, armed with a club, went up, opened the drawer and found—a turtle.

Later, hotel officials said the turtle was given to another patron.

This morning a telegram, signed by A J Krause of Pittsburgh, arrived It read:

"While guest hotel left pet turtle in dresser drawer Please mail home Will reimburse"

SERIES

73,365 jammed into the stadium, hung back.

Tomorrow the third game of the series will be played across the river in the comparatively small Ebbets field in Brooklyn where only 33,000 can be accommodated As is the case in Yankee stadium, all reserve seats have been sold

The early arrivals at Yankee stadium were dressed for the weather with heavy overcoats, mufflers, gloves and even ear muffs. Women wore fur or heavy cloth coats, and blankets were much in evidence

This morning was the coldest Oct. 1 in the history of the New York weather bureau, with a low of 38 degrees, against a normal average of 62 for the date. Temperatures in the middle 50's are due by afternoon

Yesterday's high wind appeared to be dying down. It swirled in the high, "U", shaped stadium so erratically that outfielders had to race back and forth uncertainly under flies that on a calm day would be easy outs.

"Dixie" Walker, veteran Brooklyn outfielder, said wind conditions were the worst he ever had seen, and "played the fool" with a high fly.

There was considerable bantering among the fans in the early morning lines. Yankee adherents were carefree, and Dodger followers were belligerent.

Yesterday's game was unusually subdued for a World Series contest, but tomorrow in Ebbets field the real noise is expected to explode.

New Rent Control Bill Seen by 2 Senators

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct 1—Senators Buck (R-Del) and Sparkman (D-Ala) today predicted congress will pass a new rent control bill next spring carrying out some rent boost provisions for tenants who had no increase under the present law.

The lawmakers said in separate interviews that they see no chance the housing shortage will ease enough to permit removal of rent ceilings by March 1. The existing statute expires then.

Most Famous Tree In Ohio To Be Site Of Program Sunday

Special to The Star

COLUMBUS, Oct. 1 — Ohio's most famous tree—the Logan Elm—will be the scene of the 35th annual celebration of the Ohio History Day association.

The meeting will be held Sunday, Oct. 5, at 2 p. m. at Logan Elm park.

Dr. Harlan H. Hatcher, dean of the college of arts and sciences, Ohio State university, will give the address of the afternoon.

It was under this ancient tree that Chief Logan of the Mingo tribe made the speech which has been numbered among the world's masterpieces.

In his 195 word talk, Chief Logan bitterly criticized the whites for their actions toward the Indians.

It was near Logan Elm that the Lord Dunmore Treaty was signed in October, 1774. It was this treaty which brought temporary peace between the whites and the Indians.

The program has been arranged by Roy Sampson, Adena, Chillicothe; Eugene Rigney, president, Ross County Historical society, Chillicothe, and David Crouse, president, Ohio History Day association, Kingston.

Logan Elm park is a state memorial administered by the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical society, located approximately seven miles south of Circleville and about one mile off Route 23.

The commemoration of the historic event, together with adequate parking and picnic facilities, make this a popular occasion each year.

U.S. CONSIDERS USE OF TOP FOOD AS AID

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30—The government is considering a proposal it offer some high-priced foods to hungry areas abroad at "cut-rate" prices as a means of preventing further advances in grain and livestock quotations.

Such foods would include dried fruits, citrus juices, fats and oils, dried beans and peas, dried eggs, and canned vegetables. A cabinet food committee reported to President Truman last week that this country could spare $650,000,000 worth of these.

Under the cut-rate proposal the government would buy the food at prevailing market prices and sell it to foreign countries at prices which they could afford to pay.

At the agriculture department, where the cut-rate proposal was advanced, an aide of Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said it would be "very much cheaper" for this country to subsidize foreign sale of substitute foods than to try to fill foreign needs with grain alone.

This official predicted $3.50 a bushel wheat and corn at the farm if the government attempts to export 570,000,000 bushels this crop year. These grains now average about $2.50 at the farm.

A presidential committee on foreign aid, headed by Secretary of Commerce Harriman, has suggested the 570,000,000-bushel goal in a report to President Truman.

Newspaper Week

TODAY marks the start of Newspaper week, which the nation's newspapers observe annually to call attention to the function of the press in community and national life. "Your Newspaper—Serving Freedom by Serving You" is the slogan for this year's observance.

Newspaper week this year comes at a time when officials of our government are engaged in a sharp series of verbal exchanges with the Russians, whose press is not free, according to the American concept. The words of both the Russians and our own leaders are recorded in the American press. The Russian press presents only the arguments of their own leaders, for in Russia the government can do no wrong and is above criticism. That idea has been at variance with American thought since the earliest times, the first amendment to the Constitution prohibiting abridgement of free speech or the press.

The unhampered gathering of information and opinion is one of the most important elements in a government by a free people, for such a government can't endure without it.

In order to know the true issues facing their government the people must have access to information they can trust. Lacking that information, it is impossible for them to guard their civil rights, and once those rights are lost, the people become serfs of the government. That is the predicament of a large segment of the world's population today.

No Harm in Asking

POLICY-MAKERS in Washington had better say something soon about Asia, to balance the gloomy picture of Europe they are holding up to domestic view.

Worst part of the European crisis, if that's what it really is, is hunger. The export of ever-larger amounts of food is supposed to be justifiable on the grounds that Europeans will not fall under Russian domination if they're fed at American expense.

The Marshall plan and the Paris conference's proposals for putting it into effect are merely the means of persuading Americans that they can afford the cost because the 16 beneficiary nations intend to put their benefits to good use. That's what they say.

All this is being revealed a detail at a time as the Truman administration feels its way through the pitfalls of postwar policy, in search of a politically expedient course of action. It is the details still missing that are beginning to create doubts.

Besides wondering what happens if further exports chargeable to United States taxpayers don't save Europe from bankruptcy (they haven't saved Great Britain) Americans are wondering about the comparative hungriness of Europeans and Asiatics.

Surely the Italians and Germans, our late enemies in Europe, aren't any hungrier per person than the Japanese, our late enemies in Asia. The underfed populations of Europe aren't as underfed as the population of China, for instance, which annually loses hordes of its people through starvation. As far as that's concerned, hungry Asiatics must be just as likely to turn to Russian carpetbaggers for a jolt of political snake oil as Europeans are.

In brief, if the United States is going to fight absolutism with huge exports of its commodities, chargeable to American taxpayers, where does Asia come into the picture?

Who or What Changed?

SENATOR PEPPER'S decision to support the Marshall plan comes as a surprise in view of his attack last Aug. 15 on President Truman's foreign policy. At that time he particularly criticized the plan, which he charged was loaded with insupportable conditions aimed at aligning western Europe alongside the United States in opposition to Russia. Now the senator says there is no about-face because he has detected no political strings attached to the United States pledge of aid to the 16 European countries.

His new stand will disappoint Russian apologists in America who had a doughty and eloquent friend in the Florida senator, even though he had indicated no interest in Henry Wallace's third party plans. In line as a regular Democrat and a supporter of the Truman foreign policy, he says he hasn't changed his world outlook one whit. If the senator hasn't changed, something has. Could it be that Russia's conduct in international affairs and Vishinsky's intemperate UN blasts have alienated him? Or is it time to close ranks for 1948?

Europe's Bill of Particulars

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Help on Year-To-Year Basis Advised.

THERE is clear evidence in the 22-nation report of European needs that the nose of Mr. Bevin's gold animal got itself under the tent. The report suggests that $2,000,000,000 be made "available" for "stabilizing" European currencies," apparently those of England, France, Italy and possibly Germany. The common way to stabilize a currency is to provide a backing of gold. Hence, it must be assumed that, in addition to the credits and currency asked for in the body of the report, we are asked to "redistribute" a part of our Fort Knox gold.

There is a way, of course, to stabilize currency without gold. Germany did that in November, 1923, after the great inflation. But that method requires no aid from abroad and involves no fixed amount. So the $3,000,000,000 suggestion cannot mean that form of stabilization.

The entire claim for all purposes, except the mysterious $3,000,000,000, for four years is $22,440,000,000. Of this, Europe hopes to get $3,119,000,000 from the International bank. The money will, if made available, be provided by American investors in the securities of the bank.

Hope for Repayment Plan

The European nations hope to repay by exports to the American continent, about $4,000,000,000 in four years. The deficit, therefore, would be $15,000,000,000, to be provided by the United States government, plus $3,000,000,000 from American investors in the Bank, plus the mysterious $3,000,000,000 stabilization fund. Omitting the stabilization fund, the deficit which the United States is asked to supply in 1949, is $8,000,000,000. This 1948 amount should be sharply challenged. As has been pointed out in this column, the available food and other materials simply do not add up to any such amount. The administration is said to be thinking about $4,000,000,000 as an outside figure. It is more likely, when all the facts are on the table, that the limit for 1948 which congress will allow will be somewhere between $2,000,000,000 and $3,000,000,000.

In return for this requested aid, Europe makes a number of promises. These deserve and no doubt will get careful scrutiny over here.

Promise on Coal

The most important promise made refers to coal. It is promised that the output of coal will be raised by 145,000,000 tons above 1947, or 30,000,000 tons above 1938. This is a very doubtful offer. In so far as this increase relates to German mines, the accomplishment of an increase depends upon shipments of American machinery. We are apparently only at the initial stages in planning for this machinery. So the increase depends upon England, where coal production in 1947 has been falling behind the 1939 level of production. It is hard to see, therefore, how even the modest increase of 145,000,000 tons over 1947 can be achieved.

The second offer is to restore prewar grain and cereal production, with large increases in sugar and potato production and some increases in oils and fats. With a restoration of the production of synthetic fertilizers, this is quite possible.

Europe promises further that there will be an increase in steel production of 10,000,000 tons above the prewar level. This, too, will be possible if we provide machinery and plants at a cost of about $400,000,000.

Finally, the plan proposes a restoration of the prewar merchant marine.

And so the European cards are on the table. The promises are made and can be attained if a genuine effort is made to attain them. The requests from us are far too high, but that was to have been expected.

Our attitude should be cautious. Perhaps our commitments should be made on a yearly basis. As good will and a willingness to produce are revealed in Europe, we can well afford to extend a helping hand from year to year.

After All, What'll The Children Think?

With thousands of former servicemen attending college under the GI Bill of Rights, professors reportedly are being plagued by indignant wives calling to inquire why their husbands aren't making better marks.

Congreve was wrong. Hell hath no fury like a woman whose spouse has been conditioned in freshman English.

Incidentally, college life is certainly different these days, what with so many students majoring in husbandry. Never before have chemistry students been given laboratory credit for time spent mixing the baby's formula.

But to get back to the subject at hand, one can understand a wife's chagrin at hubby's poor marks, especially if she's been doing his homework.

In fact, I wouldn't be surprised if a lot of students aren't getting practice in penmanship, forging the little woman's signature on their monthly report cards.

No woman likes to admit that her husband is a failure . . . . not even in his classwork.

Smoky City Smoke Control

New Pittsburgh System Starts Amid Arguments.

By WILLIAM G. SMOCK
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1 — Smoke control in this steel capital, long dubbed the "Smoky City," goes into effect on a citywide basis today and charges and counter-charges that may keep the Pittsburgh atmosphere, figuratively, as murky as ever for some time to come.

Although industries and railroads have been covered by a smoke abatement ordinance for a year, householders never before have come under the law. Now they must stop burning smoke-producing coal and either use low-volatile "smoke-less coal," install smoke-less stokers, or convert to gas or oil.

The fight to clean the air over the "Smoky City" began a half-century ago and the enactment of a smoke abatement law hasn't left the opposition silenced.

Mourn for "King Coal"

Opponents of smoke control continue to mourn the blow to "king coal," the fuel which helped make Pittsburgh a great city, and say smoking stacks here are a welcome sign of prosperity. Others contend supplies of smokeless coal and coke are inadequate and that it is unreasonable to put homeowners and landlords to the expense of installing new furnaces or conversion units.

Supporters of smoke control point to St. Louis as a shining example of what happens when smoke is eliminated. They argue cleaning bills there have been slashed, that residents are healthier and then city a better place in which to live. Smoke control backers also say industries are operating more efficiently, since installation of devices which force smoke back into the fire mean that fuel is being consumed more completely.

Here are some of the results claimed during the last year:

Property Owners Cooperate

City smoke inspectors kept close tab on about 1,600 commercial smokestacks and cleaned up conditions with only a few arrests—either by persuading owners to install stokers or steam-air jets, to use smokeless fuel or to educate firemen in proper use of equipment.

A total of 122 downtown buildings abandoned their own furnaces in favor of hooking onto steam lines of a commercial steam heating company.

Major railroads entering the city are switching to diesel engines as fast as new equipment can be obtained. Fourteen diesels have been delivered to the Pennsylvania railroad and 47 more are on order. Many remaining locomotives have been equipped with steam-air jets to cut down smoke and others burn smokeless fuel.

Most Pittsburghers drew the conclusion they may still look forward to some direct and poor visibility even if smoke abatement does prove successful.

Still another source of argument is that of smokeless fuels.

Warns of Gas Shortage

Currently, Pittsburgh gas companies are warning of a looming shortage this winter as the result of heavy demand and two of three major business firms have served notice they won't take any new business.

Rather than fighting smoke abatement, the area's large coal producers have spearheaded a drive to develop processed coal that will burn with only a wisp of smoke.

Nobody knows for sure what the winter will bring, but the city is launched on its experiment for better or worse. It won the right to give the program a trial only after a series of hard-fought battles which reached the floor of the state capitol in Harrisburg.

Church Claim Is Biggest on Guam

By The Associated Press

HONOLULU — The Navy has paid the largest claim on Guam against the United States—$524,950.23 to the island's Catholic Church.

This was one of the 517 claims totaling $1,321,091.10 which have been authorized for payment, said Adm. Louis E. Denfeld, commander in chief of the Pacific. All claims paid so far with the exception of the Church's were for death and injury, according to the Navy announcement.

The Church claim covered 36 properties including the cathedral at Agana which was being completed when the Japanese invaded Guam in December, 1941.

New Zealand Plans Paper Pulp Mills

By The Associated Press

AUCKLAND — New Zealand's government plans to establish State paper and pulp manufacturing works at a cost of $22,650,000.

Another big timber project has been announced by New Zealand Forest Products which said it planned to spend $11,340,000. The company said it would construct a mill to produce 42,000,000 feet of timber a year; waste from the timber mill would feed pulp and paper mills which would be set up beside it.

The Freedom Pledge

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

I HAVE before me a circular issued in connection with the Freedom Train. It says, "Freedom is everybody's job" and then announces the celebration of "Rededication Week." The public is invited to visit the Freedom train—admission free—to see the Declaration of Independence, Bill of Rights, Emancipation Proclamation and 100 other historic documents.

Then it recites "The Freedom Pledge," which follows:

"I am an American, a free American

Free to speak—without fear

Free to worship my own God

Free to stand for what I think right

Free to oppose what I believe wrong

Free to choose those who govern my country

This heritage of freedom I pledge to uphold

For myself and all mankind."

It is "The Freedom Pledge" that I want to discuss today. It seems to me to omit too much—it omits the Flag and the Constitution. When I was a boy, the pledge was worded this way:

"I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

We used to say that every day at school. Then we saluted the Flag and sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

Just Americans

In recent years the words "of the United States of America" were included to make sure that everybody knows which country is meant. In my day, nobody had any doubts about that. We only knew one country. We only loved one country. We were not one-worldish or two world-ish. Simply, we were Americans.

In 1918, William Tyler Page wrote a piece called "The American Creed," which was accepted by the house of representatives. I think this is a better statement of American principles than appears on the Freedom train circular. It reads:

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic, a sovereign nation of many sovereign states, a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its Constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its Flag, and to defend it against all enemies."

That is very complete and understandable and leaves no room for doubt. It is a take-it-or-leave-it statement and anybody who cannot take it, has no place in this country.

Suggested Additions

At any rate, the Freedom train circular pledge should be revised to insure a pledge to the Flag of this country, to its history and traditions. It should contain a pledge to uphold and maintain the Constitution of the United States, including its Bill of Rights, which is the foundation of our liberties and without which we might readily become the slaves of a tyrant, as has happened to so many millions of human beings during the past quarter of a century. Without even a casual mention of the Constitution, rededication means nothing. To what is one to be rededicated?

Whoever wrote the Freedom train pledge missed the spirit of his task. It is not that an American is "free to oppose what I believe wrong." An American is free to speak or write his opposition to the Constitution of the United States; he is free to hold mass meetings or to petition the congress for redress or grievances. He is free to oppose evils and to support the good.

But no American, no matter how much he may believe it to be wrong, is free to take an overt step to overthrow the government, to change its form, to abridge the rights of the people, to make it subservient to a foreign dictator. In a word, no American is free to be a fifth columnist for a foreign power, to join in an international conspiracy to abolish the Constitution. No American is free to oppose America, although we might object to a few politicians who hold office.

The Freedom train pledge needs rewriting to make it American.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Down With the Pushbutton!

We hereby come out with a clarion call for the organization of a Society For the Elimination of Pushbuttons.

The pushbutton must go.

It has become a national and global menace. It was all right in a way when all you had to do with it was to summon a secretary or turn on a light, although even this was fraught with potential danger and should have alerted us to human beings.

* * *

But out with it now! Down with the pushbutton! Away, too, with switches! While we are at it, let us have control of gadgets. That let-us-have control of gadgets. That let-us-have by a pushbutton passenger air transport is the last straw.

Pushbutton realists of the world, arise!

Everything is being made too easy. When you can point a bomber at some point thousands of miles over the seas and mountains and hit it by pushbutton it is time to get concerned. We should take something beside the index finger to start a war and something more than a finger to end one.

How will it seem when we are the victim of a sneak attack via a button on the wall of a foreign war office? Who can look calmly on a situation where one of our great cities is being blitzed because somebody on this side of the water had to grope through a dark room to find the right retaliation or interceptor button?

The more we think about that huge plane flying across the ocean without a human being involved the more we wish Edisson had just stuck to the talking machine. We are even a little regretful about General Electric, Mr. Ketter and electricians in general.

The pushbutton seemed a wonderful thing when it first crept into our walls years ago. The switch appeared to be a blessing. Little gadgets to be turned on and off looked like boons. For a long time they led a decent, clean life merely saving us extra steps.

But science, engineering and the war changed all that. What seemed an innocent, decent, kindly little white or black button that could merely turn on a light or call a stenographer suddenly became an ogre, a triple-threat and a danger to civilization.

Every time we look at a pushbutton now we say "You're no friend of ours. You're a phony stud on the hairy chest Mars. You're a four karat jewel in the brass knuckle of Satan!"

Who wants to fly in a plane run by a button anyhow? Even if it was good we wouldn't like it. Give us a couple of good reliable, human beings at the controls, and leave the button business with the button and buttonhole makers.

They'd Better Be Good

By TRUMAN TWILL

Little stories are going around about the postwar automobiles that will be submitted for public approval next year. There have been a few changes made.

But what we want to know is whether they've fixed things so drivers who run out of gas won't run out of gas any more.

And whether they've done something about tire trouble at the southeast corner of hell's fiercest acre at 2 a. m. on a dark night with a sleet storm raging.

And what they've done to make the self-starter battery self-watering so it won't be on a go-slow conscience the first day the temperature drops below zero and the starter turns the engine over once—"wump"—and quits.

And if the new mortgage carts will be so constructed so when they get dirty inside they can be housecleaned to get rid of the great American smell composed of pet dogs, banana peels, cigaret smoke, beer, oozing candy bars, clothing and miscellaneous dirt.

And if there will be something under the hood for a goof to twist harmlessly when the engine quits running for no apparent reason so that little lady snarls, "Whyn't ya do sumpthing, punk!"

And how much it would cost extra for a little thing, to have a trap door in the floor for disposing of the consequences of sudden attacks of car sickness, cigar butts and candy wrappers when the wind's blowing.

And whether the automobile industry is going to give up the idea that all users of its product are 5 feet 2 inches tall, with retractable hands.

And how much it's going to cost to replace certain standard repairs, such as replacing a fan belt, so the owner will know in addition to how many hundred dollars' worth of credit he must have if he leaves town.

And what is the earthly good of all the gadgets they hang on automobiles these days, with particular reference to the money they cost and might better be applied to something useful.

And why it never has been practical to do something for the Christmas tree decorations that apparently must be on modern automobiles so they won't look like a view of a tin-can dump at the end of a year of exposure to the elements.

And whether the horns will be hooked up so that a governor so they can be blown only 30 seconds out of every hour the car is in use.

And why it never has been possible to design a space for luggage that would fit the luggage that needs to be put into the space designed for luggage.

And whether the industry, with all its genius and know-how has been able to dope out a gremlin devil that won't develop 53 separate and distinct squeaks and rattles in the first 5,000 miles of its journey toward the automobile graveyard.

We can hardly wait to see the postwar designs in the automobile industry—but they'd be terrible good. It's going to take more than chromium to fool us this time.

Some authorities believe the banana tree may be the oldest cultivated plant.

CLEVELAND'S MAYOR WINS PRIMARY VOTE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 1 — Mayor Thomas A. Burke's sweeping primary victory left him an overwhelming favorite today to win reelection next month.

The 48-year-old official, who enjoyed Democratic party backing, polled 72,411 votes yesterday on the basis of complete unofficial returns to 47,080 for Eliot Ness, Republican sponsored candidate who won the right to oppose Burke again on Nov. 4.

Edward L. Pucel, insurgent Democrat and the other mayoral contestants, made a surprisingly strong race to receive 35,389 ballots.

Under the non-partisan primary rules, the two candidates winning the most votes are nominated, regardless of party affiliation.

The election marked only the third appearance on a ballot for Burke, who as city law director automatically succeeded Frank J Lausche as mayor when the latter resigned in January, 1945, to become Governor. Burke was elected to the post the following November.

For Ness, former city safety director, it was his first political race.

The bolt leaped from a cloudy sky to a dirt football practice field north of the Denver university stadium flattening virtually the entire freshman squad and Coaches Paul McClung and Mike Juntch

ELECTRIC LINE SETS RECORD FOR VOLTAGE

By The Associated Press

BRILLIANT, O, Oct 1—An electrical "superhighway" today carried America's mightiest transmission load, 500 000 volts, as a huge outdoor laboratory opened for a study of high voltage transmission economies

Philip Sporn, president of the American Gas and Electric Service Corporation, launched the research program, turning controls upping the 69,000 normal voltage to 500 000 Three separate high-voltage transmission lines located about 10 miles south of Steubenville O, carry the power

"Higher transmission voltages will permit greater interchange of power between systems, will result in greater economies and will reduce the number of generators that the interconnected systems must keep in reserve

"Nothing like this has ever been tried in this country, and, up to now, we have suffered from a definite lack of technical knowledge on the subject" Sporn said

A C Monteith, Westinghouse Electric Corporation engineering department manager, said the biggest problems of the new line would be "corona" or loss of power into air

"Up to now the highest voltage used in this country is 287,000 volts on the 265-mile line from Boulder Dam to Los Angeles" he said "Some engineers have felt this is the limit that could be used economically"

The three lines one 800 feet long and two, each one and a half miles long will be studied by engineers of the American Gas and Electric Corporation and of nine firms that participated in the design and construction

About 14,000 drivers' licenses have been issued in Marion since the sale of 1947 licenses began Sept 3

Almost 200 Marion drivers obtained licenses this morning at the license bureau on North Main street across from St Mary Catholic church, Bailey said

ALLIES TO DISMANTLE MORE REICH PLANTS

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Oct 1—Gen Lucius D Clay said today the projected new reparations dismantlings in the combined Anglo-American zones would involve plants worth about $1,000,000,000

He indicated at a news conference that this would complete reparations to be taken from western Germany.

Answering questions whether the bizonal area also would be expected to pay additional indemnities from current manufactured production the U S military governor said:

"No allowance has been made in the bizonal level of industry for reparations out of current production"

Clay was firm, however, in reiterating that U S and British authorities intended to carry out dismantlings of the plants regarded as surplus to the new level of industry, despite German objections

He said the value of the plants to be removed would "amount to less than what Germany receives in aid from the United States and Britain in one year of occupation"

Questioned about threats by German labor unions to strike against further dismantlings, the military governor said

"If we say a plant is going to be dismantled it is going to be dismantled"

Asked if troops might be used to overcome resistance to dismantling Clay said the military government's actions would depend upon circumstances, but that the authorities would be ready to face eventualities

U.S. Women Warned "Nerves" May Give Them Bombed Look

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 1—American women have the most glamorous hair in the world, an Australian hair dresser said today, but 'they must learn to relax' or they will get that European "bombed look."

If milady doesn't stop letting things get in her hair, said Frederic Rau of Melbourne, her hair 'may fall out or at least lose its luster," because 'nerves have everything to do with hair."

'In England hair is rotted today," Rau told a reporter at the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists association meeting The ladies in Rome and Paris are having hair troubles, too, he said

"The bombings did it They shattered women's nerves and ruined their hair"

"You American women have the finest hair in the world and enough money to keep it that way

"But I wish the American women would slow down Take it easy Steady her nerves Or she will look as if she was bombed, too"

OHIO MAY BE SOURCE OF OIL FROM SHALE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct 1—A long-range program of the bureau of mines places Ohio among regions offering the country a new source of oil from vast coal and shale deposits

A current report says that demonstration plants authorized by congress are preparing a blueprint for private industry to exploit these resources as a means of supplementing reserves of natural petroleum

Rep Jenkins (R-Ohio) has urged the bureau to recommend federal aid in development of such an industry in his state—described by some researchers as having shale and coal that could be made to supply the United States with oil for hundreds of years

In the country as a whole, the report estimates the recoverable shale oil at 92 000 000,000 barrels about four time the known natural petroleum reserves.

Found abundantly in southeastern Ohio, oil shale is a fine-grained sedimentary rock with a laminar structure similar to slate It varies in color from gray, sandy or brown to blue or almost black

To produce oil, officials explained, the shale is mined by methods similar to those used in coal mining, and charged into an oven where heat is applied This breaks down the organic material and liberates the oil

A ton of quality shale such as found in Ohio, officials said, will yield up to 15 gallons of oil

Products closely resembling those produced from petroleum, such as gasoline, diesel fuel and waxes, can be made by distilling and refining shale oil by known processes

Alfalfa is one of the oldest and most valuable forage plants.

Alfalfa, a cloverlike perennial, is a native of southwestern Asia

TAFT PREDICTS WIN FOR G.O.P. IN 1948

By The Associated Press

EN ROUTE WITH TAFT TO CHEYENNE, WYO, Oct 1—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) predicted today that the Republicans will win full control of the government in 1948 because the people are tired of "regulation"

The Ohio senator, invading Wyoming today in a quest for support in his possible bid for next years GOP presidential nomination, carried along a scorching indictment of what he called the 'totalitarian" aspect of the Truman administration.

'The philosophy of totalitarianism is still more taxes levied by the government, more spending by the government and more regulation by the government," he declared

Then, Taft told an audience of Republicans in the Boise, Idaho, High school auditorium last night, he called upon "the Republican party is going to come back to power in the United States" in 1948

Taft said there had been so much regulation of the lives of the people by 'Washington bureaucrats' that local government had almost disappeared He said that citizens going to Washington got only a perfunctory hearing from federal officials

'These bureaucrats are not going to change their views because of some hick from the sticks," the Ohio senator declared in a surprising departure from the formal language he usually uses in addressing audiences

New Series of Curbs Take Effect in Britain

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct 1—Life in this "Tight Little Isle" became tighter today with the enforcement of new government austerity measures that virtually banned foreign holiday travel, wiped out gasoline rations for pleasure motoring and boosted railway fares 50 per cent above pre-war levels

Limited direction of labor goes into effect next Monday under another decree issued by the Labor government which recently obtained from parliament almost unlimited powers to combat Britain's economic crisis

The new measures that became effective today, two days after Prime Minister Attlee began his long-expected cabinet shakup, are part of the government's program to slash dollar spending and increase production in the hope of erasing the nation's grave export-import deficit by mid-1948

Three Propositions for Help To Europe Given to U.S. Public

JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—This will bring you up to date on the help-Europe-with food program.

Some time ago President Truman set up a special committee to study world food problems. This is what it recently reported to him:

James Marlow

Last year Europe was short of food and needed help from us but this year, because of crop failures there, it will be even shorter and need more help.

But, to make matters worse, crop failures in this country this year mean we'll have less food to ship overseas.

How can we bridge that gap and try to spare more food for Europe

- ► Rationing.
- ► Eating less
- ► Wasting less

Nothing Done So Far

All three have been talked about but so far nothing has been done except to ask Americans to waste less food. Take them one at a time.

Rationing—

Rationing in this country a matter now more to keep prices down and to see that everyone had an equal share of food, ended when the war ended.

(Even so right now there is a form of rationing taking place in this country.

(The people with plenty of money to spend can buy all the food they want, even though prices are record high.

(But because prices are record high, the people with not-so-much-money-to-spend now are rationing themselves by buying less food.)

But can the government set up a rationing program again? How long would it take to get started?

Congressional O.K. Needed

First, congress would have to approve. Congress now out of session may not come back until next January.

Even if congress were called back into special session right now (which it won't be) to approve rationing how long would it take to set up a program?

About six months according to Paul M. O'Leary, former deputy administrator of OPA. In a special story in the Washington Post he said:

"To get a rationing program started in six months would require a series of 'almost perfect breaks.' For example:

"The government could have to be able to get back the key people—the only ones with experience to do the job—who ran rationing in wartime.

"Anyway talk of rationing right now is just talk. There's no sign of its happening any time soon, if at all.

Eating Less—

Suggestions along this line have had a cool response.

Wasting Less Food—

Of all the ideas suggested for saving food for Europe this is the easiest to ask Americans to do. It means no sacrifice at all.

President Truman suggested wasting less.

He set up a special committee of 26 citizens to work out a waste-less-food program. You'll hear from this committee later.

CONGREGATIONAL SERVICE

A fireside chat was held by the congregation of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints Sunday evening in the Odd Fellows hall with a good attendance. Group singing of "America the Beautiful" opened the meeting. Elder Carl Cox directed the singing, with piano accompaniment by Miss Diane Wise. The opening prayer was by Joseph B. Jenkins. A review of the book, "Three Came Home" by Agnes Keith was given by Mrs. Helen Griffith, and group singing closed the meeting. Miss Grace Skinner led in prayer. Elder Delvan Dee Hibbert was in charge of the program, and refreshments were served by Mrs. C. M. Knudson.

Soldier Says Russ Could Take Europe in 2 Days

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 — A leading military affairs expert declared today in a copyrighted article in the Armored Calvary Journal that the Russian army could occupy the whole of western Europe in 48 hours.

Maj. Hal D. Steward, associate editor of the journal, said the Red army's 48-hour operation could be completed against the best resistance which could be offered by all American, British and French troops now in Europe.

The expert reasoned:

"This is possible because of the high state of training and conditioning that has been maintained in the Russian army since the end of World War II."

Steward quoted informed sources as estimating that Russia now has 10 mechanized armies in Europe, with the Soviets striving for complete motorization.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

W.C.T.U. CLAIMS WIN FOR "DRYS" IN OHIO

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1—Miss Mary E. Ervin, president of the Ohio W.C.T.U., today told the 21st annual conference of church women that the "drys" gained more than they lost in legislation enacted by the last general assembly.

Miss Ervin, a speaker at the opening session, said the church-school law, incorporated into the act which nullified an old law prohibiting sale of liquor within two miles of a fairgrounds, was a gain greater than the loss of the liquor fair law.

"Our strategy calls for a united action in behalf of restrictive liquor legislation and the ultimate outlawry of public enemy number one—the legalized liquor traffic," she declared.

"Our immediate legislative weapon is local option," she explained and added, "we have reports that 112 or more towns, townships and precincts in 45 counties are voting on local option in the November elections."

Referring to general assembly action on bills sponsored by the united dry forces, she said:

"Some six or more anti-liquor bills of restrictive nature in the interest of youth protection were introduced but remained buried in the liquor control committee."

A campaign for a county local option law was also announced by Miss Ervin who said the initiative and referendum method would be used and that she expected the bill to be presented to the next legislature.

Should the legislature refuse to pass the bill, she said, "this measure will be referred to the people for a vote at the next general election."

Girl Shoots Fiance After Discovering Lipstick On Shirt

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 1 — Miss Louise Sharpe, 21-year-old brunette, was scheduled for arraignment in police court today on a charge of shooting with intent to kill her 35-year-old fiance when she found lipstick smears on his face and shirt early yesterday.

Detective Chief Clem Merz said Miss Sharpe had signed a statement that she shot Paul J. Streicher after waiting for him at his apartment, and then made two unsuccessful attempts at suicide.

Streicher, a druggist, was reported in serious condition at General hospital with bullet wounds in the chest and back.

Police learned of the shooting, Merz said, when Streicher telephone headquarters, saying that he had been wounded and asking to be taken to a hospital.

Streicher gave police Miss Sharpe's name, the detective chief added, and she was taken into custody at the home of her mother.

Merz quoted the young woman as saying she and Streicher had been going together for three years and had been engaged for six months.

"Lately, Paul had been running around," Merz quoted Miss Sharpe. "He had given me the key to his apartment and I was there waiting for him.

"Things like this happened before, meaning the lipstick on his face * * *.

"I had the gun in my purse all day. * * * He came in and said he was tired and went to bed. I took the gun out to kill myself but did just the opposite."

Merz said Miss Sharpe told him she then "swallowed about a tablespoonful of acid" at the apartment and later "went home and turned on the gas in the kitchen stove.

"I wanted to die. Someone knocked on my door and I turned off the gas. It was the police who had come for me."

RAILROAD UNIONS ASK 30 PER CENT BOOST

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 1—A formal demand for a 30 per cent wage increase for more than 350,000 members of five operating railroad brotherhoods has been made by the unions on the nation's carriers.

The notices for the hike in wages, with a minimum boost of $3 a day, set in motion the machinery of the national railway labor act under which disputes in the industry are handled.

Rejection of the wage demand by the individual railroads was expected and would result in arrangements for negotiations on a nationwide basis. The carriers' wage conference committee, representing the country's railroads, said granting the wage boost would ade $400,000,000 to rail transportation costs annually.

In addition to the pay raise demand, the operating brotherhoods representing the engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen and switchmen, also have made demands for changes in 44 working rules. Approval of the changes, railroad spokesmen said, would add $1,000,000,000 annually to operating costs.

Negotiations between the brotherhoods and carrier representatives on the rule changes, the issue that precipitated the nationwide rail strike in May, 1946, are to open here next Tuesday.

The new wage demand calls for the 30 per cent boost to become effective Nov. 1. Carrier spokesmen said the weekly earnings of operating employes average $76 now compared with $48 in 1939.

YANKS TALK FOUR STRAIGHT ON EVE OF SECOND GAME

Harris Calls on Allie Reynolds To Pitch Today's Series Battle

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—Talk of four straight echoed around Yankee headquarters today as Manager Bucky Harris selected Allie Reynolds, the Creek Indian chief from Oklahoma, to face the Dodgers in the second World Series game. Burt Shotton of the underdog Brooks cloaked his probable selection of lefty Vic Lombardi in deep secrecy.

Apparently Dodger pitching turns are to remain in doubt until shortly before game time. Shotton followed that strategy in yesterday's 5-3 opening loss, and announced that he will continue the same plan.

If the delayed pick was supposed to relieve Branca of pregame pressure, it didn't work. Ralph was obviously nervous as he waited game time on the Dodger bench but was cool as the weather when he took the hill.

Retires 12 Men

For four perfect innings he threw that fast ball and crackling curve past the Yankees, retiring 12 men in succession, before it happened. The "it" being the usual result when the Yanks are involved in a series—a big inning.

Brooklyn was supposed to have the speed and the Dodgers showed it in Jackie Robinson's early foot. The Yankees were supposed to have the outfield edge and it turned out that way with Joe DiMaggio's infield single spoiling Branca's no-hitter, Johnny Lindell's two-run double breaking the game wide open and Tommy Henrich's two-run single providing the eventual winning margin.

An all-time record series crowd of 73,365 paid a new high gate of $325,828.70.

With one out, Robinson worked Frank (Spec) Shea for a walk. Jackie hit out for second on the first pitch to Pete Reiser. Larry Berra bounced the ball into second and Robinson had a stolen base.

Reiser Reaches Second

Reiser rapped back to Shea who first tried to run down Robinson and finally threw to Phil Rizzuto for the putout. But Robinson had jockeyed them long enough to let Reiser reach second. He scored easily when Dixie Walker's lazy fly single to left.

Branca went on to the fifth, apparently headed for victory. It seemed to matter little that DiMaggio beat out a hit to Peewee Reese who had to dig far to his left to get the ball. That was the first hit but it still was a 1-0 game.

Facing George (Old Folks) McQuinn, making a great comback at the age of 38, Branca suddenly couldn't find the plate, and threw four straight balls. Billy Johnson up to bunt, was hit on the left arm by a pitched ball to load the bases.

Lindell smacked an inside curve to left field, close to the foul line, scoring DiMaggio and McQuinn. Branca, completely unnerved, walked Phil Rizzuto and

The late Sam Hildreth—one of the leading race horse trainers of 25 years ago—went hunting with a party of friends one day.

A deer broke cover and came racing in their direction. Instead of raising his rifle, Hildreth did what comes naturally—he pulled out his watch and timed the speeding animal.

CUB-DODGER GAME POSTPONED BY COLD

2 Teams To Stay Here Until 3 Tilts Played.

The Marion Cubs and the Zanesville Dodgers will try again tonight to play the second game of the Shaughnessy playoffs after cold caused postponement of the game scheduled last night.

The Dodgers lead the Cubs, 1-0, in the best-four-of-seven game series by virtue of their win over the Cubs in Zanesville Sunday. A Monday night game in Zanesville was postponed because of rain.

The two teams will stay in Marion until three games are played. If more games are needed, tentative plans call for shooting the two clubs to Newark to finish the series.

Jack Meyers, business manager of the Muncie, Ind., baseball club last night said he had written Frank Colley, league president, asking the 1948 season be shortened to 125 games from the present 140 game schedule. Meyers said he believed many postponements would be avoided if the season began about May 9 and ended Labor day.

W. Dexter Hazen, Cub president, said that he had not heard of Meyers' proposal and would need time to study it before giving a reaction.

Most Gridders Put 2 Arms to Good Use But Chuck Murray Gets Along with One

Most football players find both their arms come in handy and frequently wish they had still another, but Chuck Murray of 643 North Main street gets along splendidly with only one.

Murray—who stands six foot one inch, weighs 225 and plays plays tackle and center for the Marion Angels semi-pro gridders—lost his left arm, amputated at the shoulder, as the result of a 40-foot fall at the age of nine.

Although he feels he's not an example of unusual courage, Murray has never let his handicap interfere with his athletic ambitions.

He began football as a freshman at Richwood High school and played fullback for the Richwood squad for four years. After graduation, he attended Bowling Green State university where he put in two seasons in the position of tackle and center. He at one time planned to become a coach.

He doesn't confine his sports participation to the gridiron, however. He managed the Marion Metal Products softball team this summer as a pitcher and last winter he managed a Richwood semi-pro cage team. During the 1945-46 season he officiated in over 70 high school games.

Several years ago he played with a Richwood semi-pro football club. He offered his services to the local Angels this season and made a good showing against Columbus Hilltop A. C. in the opener. A knee injury in that game sidelined him most of the second game against Worthington.

Now 30, Murray feels that when he does finally hang up his cleats it will be Old Man Time and not Dame Misfortune who brought it about.

Locally Owned Dog Wins 2nd Place in Field Trials

Tar Baby, a field trial dog owned by Vernon Long of near Marion, split the second tree money at a race held at Churubusco, Ind., Sunday.

Tar Baby led the dog in only to have Bozo take the first tree, but Tar Baby finished up fast, taking the second. He won over such top-notch dogs as Candy Rock, Tenn Lead, Little Spot, and Red Man.

ANGELS SCHEDULED ON ROAD SUNDAY

To Meet Tough All-Stars at Indianapolis.

The 7-Up All-Stars will be the toughest opponents of the season for the Marion Angels semi-pro football team, in the opinion of Angels coach, Gene Fetter.

Sunday the undefeated locals travel to Indianapolis, to engage the powerhouse outfit, which has claimed the Indiana semi-pro football championship for two seasons, by virtue of near perfect records.

According to Gene, they should be the toughest, because they have seasons of development behind them than any of the teams that have been played this year. Also, 7-Up is the first of the squads with such background to appear on the schedule.

Results of this game will tell a lot about what's in store for other toughies, such as the Dayton Bombers, Covington, Ky. Rockets, and St. Joe A. C. of Fort Wayne, who pinned a 31-0 beating on Marion last year.

Gene plans to use about the same set-up which has been used in the first three games. He is counting on the defense, that has kept all opponents from scoring to holdup, and hoping that the offense will come through.

5 Marion Area Teams Remain Unbeaten in 4th Week of Play

High school football enters the fourth week of play this Friday with five nearby teams still undefeated—Bucyrus, Upper Sandusky, Kenton, Marysville and Richwood.

The Rams of Upper Sandusky and the Kenton Wildcats have three straight victories while the other three grid teams have won or more tie games on their records.

The Rams entertain Crestline Friday to try for number four. Ram opponents—Montpelier, Bellevue and Norwalk—have scored a total of 20 points to Upper Sandusky's 45 so far this year. Crestline's record stands at two wins and a loss.

Kenton at Forest

Kenton goes to Forest Friday. The Wildcats have scored 52 points to their opponents 19 this year. They stopped Bluffton, St. Marys and Van Wert.

Marysville, with a win and two ties, goes to Richwood Friday. Richwood has two wins and a tie. Both teams are in the Mid-State league and will play in the third Mid-State league tilt of the season. At the present time Marion-St. Mary leads the league by virtue of their 18-7 win over Carey last week. Both Marysville, defending champions, and Richwood, are strong contencers for league leadership.

The Bucyrus Redskins go to Shelby. The Redmen won their opener from Tiffin Columbian, tied Norwalk, and topped Willard last week. Shelby nipped Galion, 7-6, in a disputed game last Friday.

Carey at Ada

Carey Blue Devils, turned bluer by the St. Mary Irish upset victory Friday night, travel to Ada to try to start a new winning streak.

The Galion Tigers with a season record of one win and two losses go to Norwalk. Galion won over Tiffin Calvert and dropped games to Crestline and Shelby. Galion is protesting to state officials as officials ruling in the Shelby game which nullified a Galion conversion giving Shelby a one point edge over the Tigers.

Mt. Gilead Indians entertain Sunbury. The Indians have a season record of one win and two losses. They lost to Crestline and Carey but bounced back last week to take Danville.

Paul Brown Admits He's a Poor Loser

But His Opponents on the Gridiron Seldom Get Chance To Find That Out.

By LARRY SMITH
Associated Press Newsfeatures

CLEVELAND — Many reasons have been advanced for the phenomenal coaching success Paul Brown has experienced in high school, college and the professional ranks.

Paul himself provides the most logical answer.

"I'm a poor loser," he says. "I like to win ball games."

The 39-year-old football perfectionist concentrates on that objective of winning games all year long.

When Brown left Ohio State to take over the job of piloting the Cleveland Browns to a championship in the All-America Football Conference's first season he tossed a luncheon for Cleveland newsmen.

After that initial get-together everyone was convinced that Paul Brown wouldn't settle for anything less than a winning ball club.

At that time Cleveland was considered a graveyard for professional football. The Cleveland Rams had won the National Football League title the previous season but still came up with a deficit of something around $10,000, and moved on to Los Angeles.

Brown was not perturbed by the setting. He declared at that first luncheon he considered Cleveland potentially one of the greatest sports cities in the country.

"The town will follow a winner that puts on a good show and if it takes all of Owner Mickey McBride's money that's what I'm going to give them," he asserted.

Paul Brown, coach of the amazingly successful Cleveland Browns, here diagrams one of his pass plays on the blackboard.

Brown's confidence—and hard work — were rewarded. The Browns drew 399,963 spectators to their home games last year—a new professional football attendance record.

Paul makes the apparently contradictory statement that he has the easiest coaching job of his life because it's an all-year-round job.

"We don't have to pack everything into a few months, like in high school or college football," he explains. "The average school coach spends his winters making speeches and talking to hundreds of young men, with the idea of selling them on enrolling at his school.

"In pro football, it's cut and dried. We may argue a little over money, but that's about our only obstacle. We want a certain player, or we wouldn't bother with him. And he had better show he wants to play on our team, or we don't give him a second look. This is a business, a growing business."

As an example of the manner in which Brown concentrates on developing a winner the youthful looking coach has compiled a stack of figures on last year's activities.

The Browns tried 281 passing plays last fall, completed 131. A total of 450 running plays were called. He has a break-down on each play.

For instance, one play was tried 19 times for a gain of 122 yards. That's pretty good, but the Brown charts show why it wasn't even better.

Seven times the right halfback made a poor block on the end, three times the right guard missed the line backer, twice the right end missed the tackle, once the right tackle missed the guard, twice the right tackle missed the right guard, twice the guard and fullback missed the halfbacks.

Brown not only knows how often every play failed but why. Every other play in the quarterback's book is broken down in a similar manner.

Paul's philosophy of football is in keeping with his tremendous concentration on the job of coaching.

"In baseball sports fans think of the New York Yankees as the best in the business," he says. "In golf at the moment it's Bobby Locke. We want to develop to the point where the Cleveland Browns will be the team mentioned when fans speak of football perfection."

Lac Maskinonge's Shores Abound in Plenty o Fine Deer Hunting in Quebec

A perfect neck shot at 150 yards dropped this agile young buck during the fall hunting season in the Province of Quebec where thousands come each year to bag their deer. This fine 180 pounder made a tantalizing target against the russet foliage of woods bordering Lac Maskinonge near St.-Gabriel in the country of Berthier about 75 miles north of Montreal. Some idea of the speed and grace of these lovely animals is still to be seen as this game hangs from a tripod erected close to camp only a few miles from where he was felled by the happy visiting marksman at the right.—Adv.

FESLER HINTS SHIFT IN O.S.U. BACKFIELD

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1—Coach Wesley Fesler of the Ohio State university Buckeyes indicating keen respect for the aerial offense of the Purdue Boilermakers suggested today that a revised backfield might open Ohio's western conference title battling at Lafayette, Ind., Saturday.

Pete Perini, who has been working at quarterback, was named a possible fullback—with halfback Rod Swinehart going to the quarterback post. Halfbacks in a new backfield would be Mike Cannavino and Alex Verdova. Long gains by Verdova set up O S U's second touchdown against Missouri.

Fesler rated Perini's defensive play over that of either regular fullbacks Ollie Cline or Joe Whisler and said Pete would again do the punting.

The Buckeye mentor was not positive he would start the new backfield, however, and all his Missouri starters worked with the first string yesterday. Dick Slager still was quarterback, Whisler at full, and Jim Clark and Dean Sensabaugher manned the halfbacks.

Pandel Savic of Cleveland may replace Swinehart who received rib bruises against Missouri and may not play Saturday.

Bob Brugge and Bob Demmel will not see action Saturday. Brugge has a pulled thigh muscle and Demmel suffered a shoulder separation Monday. Brugge probably will be ready by the Southern California game, Oct. 11, here.

A recapitulation yesterday of crowd figures for the Missouri game showed the crowd totaled 62,319, instead of the 59,444 announced Saturday.

BUCYRUS NAMED SITE OF 1948 TOURNAMENT

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Oct. 1—Hal Clawson, commissioner of the Sixth district of the Ohio Amateur Softball association, announced today that the district's 1948 tournament would be held at Lions playground field next summer, dates to be announced later.

Lions field, completed in the 1945 season and this year equipped with one of the finest lighting systems in the state, saw a number of state tournaments in the season just completed. The state Veterans of Foreign Wars tourney was held on the field in July and the finals of the state American Legion play were staged in September. In addition, a game billed as "the servicemen's championship of the state" was held two weeks ago with the Legion's Toledo North End post defeating Columbus Civic Center, the state and national V.F.W. champion. The 1948 state V.F.W. tourney has already been awarded to the field.

This year's district tournament, held at Riverside park in Mount Vernon, drew 24 teams from the seven counties embraced by the district. The Ashland Eagles were the eventual winners.

Counties included in the district are Wyandot, Richland, Ashland, Knox, Marion, Morrow and Crawford.

Twenty states and the District of Columbia are represented on the 1947 Yale football squad.

"Odds and Ends" From Big 9 Camp

CHICAGO, Oct. 1—A line on the Big Nine . . .

In Nine games involving Big Nine teams, 32 different players have had a part in scoring, either making touchdowns or kicking extra points . . . . Michigan's Bob Chappuius leads all individual scorers with his three markers against Michigan State . . . . In Saturday's seven games, conference teams played before 315,975 spectators—a new opening day record and a good start towards a goal of nearly three million for the season . . . .

Bob Baggott, 180-pound junior who showed promise as an outstanding defensive safety man, has been lost to Northwestern for failing to pass a makeup examination . . . . Jerry Krall, who spearheaded Ohio State's attack in 1945, has failed to respond to a knee operation and will be withheld from football for the season . . . . The Toledo star injured his knee in the 1946 Minnesota game . . . .

Reports from Iowa City say Coach Eddie Anderson of the Hawkeyes is preparing for the Illinois game in great secrecy . . . . He laid his first plans for strategy behind locked doors with orders not to be disturbed by telephone calls or visitors . . . . Practices have been so long this week they usually end under lights on the field . . . .

Yost's famous "point-a-minute" team trounce Stanford 49-0 in 87 degree heat after traveling a weary 3,000 miles from the wintry temperatures of Ann Arbor . . . . The Wolverines' traveling squad was 14 men, three of whom never got into the game . . . . A year before Yost coached Stanford to the Pacific coast title . . . A rule barring non-alumni coaches sent Yost eastward to Ann Arbor in 1901 . . . . Prior to this introduction of the football game, the highlight of the Tournament of Roses celebration had been chariot races.

PREP FOR RICHWOOD TILT

MARYSVILLE, Oct. 1—Marysville high school gridders launched drills this week in preparation for their first Mid-State League tilt with Richwood High at Richwood Friday night. Marysville is the defending champion in the league for the second straight year.

YANKS

was yanked for Hank Behrman after he threw two straight balls to Bobby Brown, pinchhitting for Shea.

Harris Takes Gamble

Lifting Shea for a hitter was a gamble but as Harris said later it was a chance for a big inning and he took it. Brown eventually walked, forcing across Johnson and the parade was on.

George Stirnweiss forced Lindell at the plate but beat Edward's throw to first. Tommy Henrich followed with his two-run single to left and it was in the bag.

The Dodgers, although they were not completely mystified by fireman Joe Page, never closed the gap. Singles by Ed Stanky, Reiser and pinch hitter Carl Furillo got back one in the sixth and the other resulted in the seventh when Reese walked, stole second and raced home on a wild pitch.

At the end it was old Hugh Casey toiling for the Brooklyns and Page for the Yanks, just like many persons figured—a bull pen World series, at least in the opener.

O.W.U. 11 TO MEET OTTERBEIN SATURDAY

Ohio Wesleyan university meets Otterbein at Delaware Saturday.

Despite the pounding Otterbein university gridders took from West Virginia last Saturday, the opinion prevails about the Ohio Wesleyan camp that Otterbein will give the Battling Bishops their toughest opposition of the season when the two teams meet Saturday afternoon.

Pointing out that Otterbein is out of the West Virginia class, Ohio Wesleyans new coach Glenn Fraser said that Otterbein is loaded again this year with football stars. Last year Otterbein's only defeat came in their opener with West Virginia, and the powerful Otterbein squad went on to win all the rest of their games.

Ohio Wesleyan's Bishops look good this year, too. They smashed Albion (Mich.) college, 40-6, in the Ohio Wesleyan opener at Delaware last Saturday.

Jimmie Wade, fast Bishop halfback, accounted for a big share of the Ohio Wesleyan advances with his tricky broken field running and several long passes to end Jack Fouts. Wade was named All-Ohio halfback in 1945. Another Bishop All-Ohio is center Jim Diamond, whose 200 pounds pack a big wallop on the line. Diamond captains the Bishops this year.

Bishop Coach Glenn Fraser, who guided Cleveland Lincoln High school to six city championships in 10 years before coming to Ohio Wesleyan last spring, favors the single wing formation.

The game Saturday will tell how well Ohio Wesleyan stacks up with the best teams in the state.

Three Hot Rumors Scorch Baseball Grapevine

By The United Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—Three very hot reports circulated today on the major league baseball grapevine—the Indians are about to dispose of Lou Boudreau as manager, the Tigers are about to pick him up as shortstop, and the Pirates are about to hire Bill Meyer to replace Billy Herman.

There they are for what they are worth, and the reports were substantiated by persons who seemed to know what they were talking about. Whether they come to pass is something that only Bill Veeck, Walter Briggs, and Frank McKinney know about now, but within a few days the rest of the waiting baseball public should know—for sure.

Veeck, president of the Cleveland Indians, definitely is displeased with his player-manager, Shortstop Boudreau, and the difference of opinion stems not from Lou's handling of the ball club or over his actions as a player, but from the fact that he steadfastly refuses to sign a contract for only one season.

Veeck Goes Sour

Veeck, who retained Boudreau as player-manager under an old contract when he took over as president of the Indians, succeeding Alva Bradley, is convinced that the black-haired likeable infield star is a good manager and a great fielder. But he doesn't want him on a long range basis and when Boudreau reportedly refused to sign a new contract as player-manager for one year, Veeck soured on him.

Meanwhile Steve O'Neil, the popular manager of the Detroit club, who might have been in the World Series himself had he had a solid infield, openly discussed plans for next year.

"We've got some good kids coming up, but we definitely need a couple of seasoned infielders," he said. "The infield situation is our key problem. If we get the right man, I don't think we'll be very far out of it when this time comes around next year."

O'Neil wasn't saying that Boudreau was that man, because he doesn't have the last word, although his recommendations to Briggs, owner at Detroit, carry enough weight to sink the Queen Mary. And he was unstinting in his praise of the cat-like Indian shortstop, mentioning his fine defensive work and his timely hitting.

"I'd like to have him on my ball club," he said in passing, but many a manager wished out loud in the same conversational vein two decades ago about a fellow named Babe Ruth.

Meyer's position as manager of the key farm club in the New York Yankee organization at Kansas City seemed to be set—in other words he is welcome there as long as he wants to stay.

But at the same time, his old boss, Ft Ray Hamey, now general manager under McKinney, the president of the Pittsburgh club, has indicated he is anxious to get Meyer as a replacement for Herman.

"I'm ready, willing, and able," he said. "But of course I haven't had any direct offers. So I don't know whether anybody wants me. But it is nice to think about."

There were two other reports which were pretty generally spiked like soda pop at a football game. The first was that Leo Durocher, apparently available as a big league manager, would succeed Boudreau at Cleveland, the second that he would take over for Herman at Pittsburgh. Responsible sources in both towns said they had never heard anything quite so absurd. Durocher, they said, might be a good manager, but they felt their club owners had other plans.

But bowling in the Monday Nite Ladies league on the same alleys, Eve Applegett really warmed up, collecting a series total of 498 and a high single game of 190. J. Leser's 496, L. Weis' 466, and C. McCleary's 455 series totals were other 450 beaters in that league. Twenty ladies bowled single games over 150, including a 186 game by Jean Leser, 182 by R. Smart, and a 178 by E. Stafford.

Over in the Marion Recreation, C. Phillians, bowling on Groll's Furniture in the Home Bowling league, copped series honors with a high 562. Barrett's 222 for the Millard Hunt company was high single game. Other 200 bowlers in that league were Snell, 202, Roseberry, 200, Cook, 201, Steinmetz, 204, and Phillians, 203.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

I RARELY have dreaded anything more in my life than I did going back to my studio and facing Noel Veritzen.

It is not pleasant to look at someone whose cherished ideals have been tumbled about their ears, and who, in addition, is suffering tortures of remorse, as Dr. Twitchell had indicated. That his suffering was out of all proportion to the necessity for it did not make my problem easier.

But I had no choice, and I made my voice as cordial as I could manage it.

"Of course, dear boy," I said. "I'll be right down."

"Thank you," he said, his voice still low and broken. "Good-bye."

"Good-bye," I told him, and the two receivers clicked at the same time.

I scrawled a hasty note for Dicky, "Will be back. Please wait for me," and put it on his drawing board, with a paper weight on it to keep it safe. Then I hurried out of the studio and down the stairs to my own study.

But at the door, I stood with my shoulders thrown back and my fingers clenched into my palms for several seconds, bracing myself for whatever lay before me.

But when I finally had knocked and Noel had opened the door, a wave of relief swept me. That Dr. Twitchell had done a marvelous job of deflating him was evident, but though his face showed the ravages of the storm of emotion that had swept over him, there yet was a certain dignity and decision about him that told me he had worked out his problem by himself, and was ready now for the readjustment that must be made in his ideas.

Won't Make Trouble

"Come in, Aunt Madge. This is awfully good of you," he said. "And I promise you I won't make you any more trouble. Dr. Twitchell finally got over to me the picture of the colossal ass I've been making of myself, and all I want now is to make things up to Mary. Do you think I ever can?"

Purposely, I put a tinge of derision into the laugh which accompanied my answer.

"You ought to know Mary by this time," I said. "She never harbors a grudge, nor does she ever worry over anything once it has been settled. Do you want my advice as to what to say to her? I shan't be offended, you know, if you don't. After all, this is a matter strictly between you and Mary."

"I'd like to hear it," he said, but I guessed that he was making a mental reservation about taking it.

"Just tell her you've had a talk with Dr. Twitchell, and he has convinced you that were in error as to certain theories you held. Tell her to forget anything you already have said, and ask her to discuss the matter on its new basis."

He looked at me curiously.

"That's splendid advice," he said, "and I shall take it. But you talk as though you knew exactly what Dr. Twitchell told me."

"Not yet having reached my dotage, although I sometimes think I'm near it," I said, "it isn't hard to guess what he said. But I have no real knowledge," I hastily added, stifling my conscience with the sophistry that it would not be good for him to know that Dr. Twitchell had come to Dicky and me at Dicky's studio and told us just what had occurred.

"You certainly are a good guesser," he said, with a wan smile, which I was relieved to feel had no doubt in it.

Then he put a hesitant question.

"Aunt Madge, do you think I look all right to see Mary?"

I knew what was in his mind, and I put a counter question.

"You don't want to go up to your father's apartment before you see Mary. Is that it?"

"Yes. You must be psychic," he answered.

"I'll tell you some more things," I said with a smile. "Your suit is all right, but you'd feel a million times better if you could have a quick shower, a shave, fresh underthings, socks, tie, handkerchief and shirt. Am I right?"

"Positively clairvoyant," he said, and this time his smile was not so twisted.

Shall Have Them

"Then you shall have them," I told him. "Tell me where your things are in your apartment, and I'll go and get them. While I'm gone, get your shower. There's a big French bath towel robe hanging up there you can use—it's accustomed to both masculine and feminine figures. But tell me, just where are your shaving things? If they're in your father's apartment, I'll bring you Dicky's."

"I have 'spares' in my own apartment," he said. "You'll find everything on the second shelf of the wall cupboard in my own bathroom. You know which it is."

"Oh, yes," I said, "and now I'm off. I'll take my key, so you won't have to open the door. And if you're in the bath, I'll leave everything on the table. By the time you've finished it, it will be time for you to come over to dine with Mary. And, boy, as Dicky would say, keep the chin up! Everything is going to be all right."
